College study class set at Northwest Y

Collegebound high school graduates of the La Jolla, Clairemont and Pacific Beach areas are to get a chance at a nationally-known how to study in college course July 6-10.

John Parry of the Northwest YMCA announced the program, a one-week, five-evening series of lectures developed by two Purdue University professors, will be held at Cal Western University's Boney Hall, as a service to recent high school graduates attending college this fall.

Because of the response received from students who took the course in the past five years, the eight branches of the San Diego City/County YMCA have arranged with the authors of the course to present it here again this summer. Some of the student's comments taken from the evaluation at the end of the course last year indicate the enthusiasm the youngsters demonstrated for the course content.

Not a remedial course, the "College survival" program is aimed at a long over-looked college entrance problem: the transition the student is forced to make from high school to the rigors of academic life at college.

The course was developed by Dean R. F. Schwarz, director of the Purdue University North Central Campus, and Howard D. Murdock, Purdue North Central Campus Chemistry Department. The course has been offered at all five campuses of Purdue University in Indiana and at YMCA's across the nation. In 1969 it was offered at YMCA's to over 4,000 students in 50 cities.

Subjects covered in the five lectures include how people learn, why we forget, the art of listening, how to take college lecture notes motivation for maximum college performance, how to plan your time, a basic study formula, techniques of review, themes and reports, preparing for and taking tests and examinations, the vocabulary of college, what you need to know about each course and professor, when and how to obtain academic assistance, understanding college libraries and how they differ, personal problems in adjustment to college living.

Schwartz and Murdock felt the success of the course has been primarily due to the time it is offered in the year—during the summer when the new high school graduates are most highly motivated concerning college.

"The books on the subject are many and excellent," says Schwarz, "but the truth of the matter is that not many of these find their way into the hands of the students. If they do read them it is either too early, or, more unfortunately, too late."

"We attempt to present some refined techniques related to the learning process in a college atmosphere," Murdock said. "We explore the problems, discuss and demonstrate techniques and try to instill confidence in the student. We attempt to make the transition from high school to college a positive rather than a negative experience."

"We are happy that the authors of the course have arranged to have the course presented here again," said Parry. "It is another means whereby the YMCA can offer a real public service in the community. In this case, we are combining our resources with those of recognized college educators in an attack on a very real, but often overlooked, problem in education—the college freshman dropout."

Enrollment details are available from the Northwest Branch of the YMCA by calling 453-3483. The fee for the course is $20. The program is open only to high school graduates and college freshmen.

HOW ABOUT THAT

By WILFRID DELLQUEST

Facing west from California's shore inquiring, tireless, seeking what is yet unfound. —Walt Whitman

NEEDLE IN THE SKY: Celebrating the recent first anniversary of the 320-foot PSA Skytower that points aloft above Mission Beach, the revolving, doughnut-shaped elevator was kept operating until 1 a.m., providing an extraordinary view of San Diego along bay and ocean beaches and spreading into the foothills. The panorama surveyed from the observation elevator DELLQUEST includes Mission Valley, downtown San Diego, the Coronado Bay bridge, Point Loma, Ocean Beach, Mission Beach, Pacific Beach, Mission Bay, La Jolla and the Pacific Ocean. The space needle features the longest vertical passenger ride in the United States and, if statistics fascinate you, it was built at a cost of $530,000 and its base is anchored to 45 pilings sunk to a depth of 120 feet.

BENEATH THE LIGHTS: The real drama of our city lies hidden beneath the softening sparkle of lights and the far-reaching daytime vista. It is our mutual experience to see our city a sector at a time, and each segment has its own particular interest and beauty, but riders in the Skytower can capture a rare perspective, a realization of entirely unknown to the horizontal traveler.

Many years ago, O. Henry wrote a prose classic called "A Municipal Report" in which he enumerated the annual statistics of his city, at best a dullish procedure. Then, with imaginative creativity, he probed beneath the totality and conjured the poignant drama and the throbbing heartbeat of his city. He transformed the uninspired figures into the tears and smiles that harrow and bless us all as viable human beings.

Concealed beneath the glimmering lights and distant flecks of motion as seen from the space needle, we can envision the triumphs of achievement and the bleakness of disillusionment. We can see the antlike creatures far below and far away as birds irresistibly lured by a lighthouse or moths by a candle.

BEYOND THE EDGE: There is goodness and calm and stolid strength beyond the merciful abyss of distance; and evil and perfidy, too, for as we share the faith and high endeavor of our fellowmen we also live within the shadow of broken promises and are touched by the devious and the sinister.

Beyond the shimmering lamp of life, there is loneliness and isolation and the grim bafflement of dreams that died aborning. From the loftiness of our vantage point we can sense something seething, a wild promise waiting to burst forth, and faith whispers that it will be good, that it will be noble.

From ethereal vistas we count as jewels in our crown those who fight for freedom and strive for the betterment of their fellows. We hail them all in the restless hum of our city, mothers and infants, children at play, maturity seeking

Pastor Benko to leave St. Peter's by the Sea

The Rev. Vlad P. Benko, who has been pastor at St. Peter's by the Sea Lutheran Church is leaving to take new responsibilities at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Monterey Park in the Los Angeles area starting July 16.

Pastor Benko came to St. Peter's by the Sea congregation in February 1949 from St. Louis, Mo.

DURING HIS 21 YEARS of ministry, the congregation increased in numbers from a modest 60 to a present 420. Three major additions have been built on to the original church building and considerable additional land has been acquired.

A farewell tea has been planned by the Lutheran Church Women on Sunday, from 3 to 5 p.m., in the Parish Hall, 1371 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., Ocean Beach, and members and nonmembers are invited.

Sunday is the last day of Pastor Benko's ministry in this area and his acceptance of the new call also marks the 25th anniversary of his ordination as a Lutheran minister.

A few years ago Pastor Benko served as chairman on the evangelism committee for the Pacific Southwest Synod. The pastor's wife, Gale, teaches Sunday school and teaches in city schools. She has a degree from Cal Western University.

The Benkos have made their home in Ocean Beach since 1949 and have two grown children, William and Barbara, and a teen-age daughter Christine.

Pastor Benko was born in Cleveland July 16, 1922 and his father, the late Rev. Matthew Benko, was born in Czechoslovakia. In 1968 Pastor and Mrs. Benko traveled in Europe but were unable to visit relatives in Czechoslovakia due to the uprising in that country; however, last year they were able to meet with some of Pastor Benko's relatives.

A farewell tea has been planned by the Lutheran Church Women on Sunday, from 3 to 5 p.m., in the Parish Hall, 1371 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., Ocean Beach, and members and nonmembers are invited.

Sunday is the last day of Pastor Benko's ministry in this area and his acceptance of the new call also marks the 25th anniversary of his ordination as a Lutheran minister.

SLOBBS FIGHT SLOBBS

Area residents Saturday kicked off the SLOBB—Stop Littering Our Bays and Beaches—campaign with a policing action in the Mission Bay area. Here, litter fighters man a large net used to scour the bay bottom for refuse.

The campaign is jointly sponsored by the War Against Litter Committee, Clean Water, Inc. and the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, and will include campaigns in La Jolla, Pacific Beach and Ocean Beach in the near future.

Volleyball tourney slated by OB council

Ocean Beach Town Council announced its sponsorship of the annual two-man volleyball tournament, formerly held in Mission Beach.

Council president Dick Ridenour said the event will take place Saturday and Sunday on the beach at the foot of Brighton Avenue in Ocean Beach. Two-man volleyball, he explained, has been played up and down the California coast for the past 20 years, and the sport has been growing rapidly and steadily.

Ridenour said the open tournament will be of the double elimination type, and some 64 teams are expected to enter. He said a large percentage of the players travel the coast to participate in each tournament.

The competition, which includes former U. S. Olympic stars and national championship veterans, is to start Saturday at 10 a.m. and run until sunset. Sunday activities are slated to begin at sunrise. Admission is free for both days.

City cuts collection of refuse

Beginning August 1, city sanitation department workers will be making trash collections at each residence and business establishment only once a week.

City Council Tuesday adopted a resolution authorizing the cutback in refuse collection in an effort to reduce the city's budget for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

City Manager Walter Hahn told the council in a report that refuse collection services are generally available only on a once a week basis throughout the city, but certain business areas have pickups as many as six times a week.

"This multiweekly service must be recognized as being inequitable, since the general taxpayer is paying for special service benefiting a relative few," Hahn said. Approximately 25 per cent of the businesses in areas with more than one collection a week are taking advantage of the extra service, Hahn noted.

Council directed the manager's office to eliminate all multi-weekly refuse collection service and draft a collection schedule to provide for once-weekly collection in all areas of the city.

ART BUCHWALD

It depends on position

By ART BUCHWALD study of Feng Sui can be.

Persons who have been wondering why things have been unraveling so badly in Washington these days may be interested in the explanation of a distinguished Chinese scholar who visited the Capitol last week. Dr. Chun Ling is an expert in Feng Sui, otherwise known as the study of things in relation to where they are placed.

"Americans," Dr. Chun Ling said, "do not put much significance into what is in good harmony and bad harmony, but if buildings are not in harmony with each other it is impossible for people to be in harmony."

Dr. Chun Ling said that the most striking example of this could be illustrated by the fact that the White House faces north and the Capitol of the nation faces east, and both have their backs to the Washington Monument. When buildings face in different directions, they do not have common goals.

"THE SUPREME COURT faces Lincoln and that is good, but Lincoln from his tomb must look at the back of the Senate and House of Representatives, and this is bad."

Dr. Chun Ling also said, "It is very sad the President's office is located in the west wing of the White House, because this puts him on the side of the Pentagon and away from Health, Education and Welfare."

The Feng Sui expert said it is no accident that the Pentagon is as strong as it is in Washington. "The Pentagon is much larger than the Capitol and White House, and the two smaller buildings cannot control the bigger one. Not only that, but the Pentagon has too many faces and too many entrances directed in all directions. This multifaceted design has forced the Pentagon to get involved in every direction it faces."

Dr. Chun Ling pointed out something to me that I had never noticed before, which shows you how important the Vice President Agnew, on the other hand, sleeps south by southeast. Most Eastern Establishment newsmen and commentators sleep north by northeast. This, and only this, is what is causing the disharmony between the Vice President and the press.

I tried to find out what direction President sleeps to make my study complete, but Ron Ziegler, his press secretary, told me emphatically: "The President never sleeps."

Jack Anderson

From intelligence reports and captured documents, it is now possible to anticipate the enemy's next moves in Indochina:

1. The North Vietnamese probably will make what one report calls a "cosmetic concession" this summer. They might accept the Democratic Policy Council's call for a complete U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam in 18 months, offering American troops safe conduct out of the country. The intention would be to cause political mischief in the U.S. by making the Democratic appeal an issue in the November election campaign.

2. President Nixon's aim that the Cambodian operation would bring pressure upon Hanoi to negotiate an "honorable peace" appears to have backfired. The intelligence reports indicate that Hanoi has been less impressed with U.S. military successes in Cambodia than with the domestic upheaval the operation has caused in America. The antiwar clamor in Congress and upon the campuses probably has encouraged the North Vietnamese to hold out for a settlement on their terms. All the available intelligence suggests that they don't intend to engage in meaningful negotiations in Paris but look upon the truce talks as a device to extract concessions from the U.S.

3. CONTRARY TO PRESS speculation, the North Vietnamese aren't expected to return to their Cambodian sanctuaries after the Americans clear out. The losses were so staggering that the North Vietnamese won't likely risk storing their supplies in large centers again. Instead, they are expected to keep their forces in Cambodia dispersed and to store their supplies in scattered, small caches.

4. The communist hold on the South Vietnamese countryside already had deteriorated before the Cambodian adventure. The destruction of their supply centers should create severe shortages that will hamper Viet Cong operations around Saigon and in the Mekong delta. To mask this weakness, the communists probably will step up their shelling and hit-and-run attacks in the northern sectors. They are also expected to increase their military pressure upon the Lon Nol government in Cambodia.

AT THE SAME TIME, THE South Vietnamese Army has been bolstered by its successes in Cambodia, as President Nixon reported. This may turn out, however, to be a mixed blessing. For the exhilarated South Vietnamese generals have become more gung-ho than ever. The Nixon administration may find it difficult to restrain them from widening the war, even more difficult to get their agreement to any political settlement.

HAILED ON CARPET
The Justice Department is investigating Rep. Jacob Gilbert's strange devotion to the Seafarers Union, whose lobbyist uses Gilbert's office as his home port.

The Bronx Democrat came under scrutiny after this column told of his long and lucrative relationship with the Seafarers. In 1968, the union gave Gilbert $9,121 for his campaign, but he reported only $500 of it to the Clerk of the House.

This apparent violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act has come under investigation by U.S. Attorney Edward R. Neaher, racketbuster for the Eastern District of New York, where the Seafarers' headquarters are located.

Neaher would confirm only that he had "called the Gilbert matter to the attention" of his staff, which includes two special attorneys from Washington.

NOT ONLY HAS THE union made unreported contributions to Gilbert's campaign, but the dapper Congressman has signed lobbyist Philip Carlip's name to restaurant checks when Carlip wasn't present to do it himself.

The lobbyist often works out of Gilbert's office. In addition to his government pay, the Congressman draws about $10,000 a year from his law firm. For a time, he kept the secretary in his law office, Hapel Thompson, on the government payroll. He also arranged a government salary for Anneliese Levine, a hairdresser.

One Gilbert aide, George Cebollero, enrolled two daughters in the Neighborhood Youth Corps last year by claiming he was making less than $3,800 a year. His actual income totaled more than $19,000.

Another trusted assistant, Dominyo Ramos, was caught embezzling $1,126 in antipovity funds in 1966. Both Cebollero and Ramos left Gilbert's payroll under fire.

As a member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, Gilbert not only has been a friend of the Seafarers but a champion of the Savings and Loan lobby. He has also gone to bat for such industrial Goliaths as Tennessee, Inc., a natural gas firm.

WHITE HOUSE CRAB
Inside the White House—President Nixon made an unexpected appearance the other day at a ladies' luncheon that his wife was giving.

"Oh," blurted the First Lady, "you've come right in the middle of the crab!" ... The First Lady seated Mrs. Melvin Laird, wife of the Defense Secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Gruening, wife of the dovish ex-Senator from Alaska, next to each other. Mrs. Gruening asked her luncheon partner sweetly whether she would be "glad" when the American soldiers cleared out of Cambodia, then repeated the question when Mrs. Laird evaded. Finally, Mrs. Laird acknowledged that she would be "glad" to see the boys come out of Cambodia, but added fiercely that the President was "a great hero." ... Some of the ladies complained after the luncheon that Mrs. Nixon rushes them through their cocktails too fast. Her predecessor used to allow at least 30 minutes for drinks, but Mrs. Nixon scarcely allows them time to gulp their drinks before hustling them into the tables. ... Curtis Tarr, the new draft director, gave a confidential White House briefing on the draft the other day. He wandered off the subject briefly and began lecturing on parental permissiveness. "If we don't start being parents," he said, "we won't have any children."

PET
PATTER

In these days when so many of us live in small homes or apartments a big dog is ruled out. There isn't enough space. But what a joy it is to have a pet. Especially for retired persons who no longer take long hikes or strenuous exercise, a pet for companionship is a wonderful aid. Police tell me that small dogs are excellent protection. Of course they can't attack an intruder or a prowler on your premises, but they are alert and make up in loud, vigorous barking what they lack in size. They can sound an alarm of prowlers or fire as well as a big dog can.

The little Chihuahua is so tiny you can carry it in your tote bag, or tuck it in a big coat pocket, but it is lively and energetic and has an emphatic bark. There are smooth-haired and also long-haired Chihuahuas. Their big, flaring ears catch every sound and add to their alert appearance. They are bright and excel in obedience training. This is an exceedingly old breed and has been at home in Mexico for many centuries.

Another pocket-size dog of much interest is the Pekingese, which was a royal dog in China and has been unchanged for many thousands of years. It is probably the oldest breed and was exclusively owned by the imperial family for many years. It is willful and self-confident and refuses to be hurried. It is a wonderful toy pet, but would probably not scare any prowlers away. It is sometimes called a "sleeve dog."

The Pomeranian is another favorite of persons desiring a tiny pet. Its ancestors came from the Arctic Circle, where it is related to the Spitz family. There is even a dwarf Pomeranian small enough to sit in a tea cup. The atom-sized dog is white.

The toy poodle is a very intelligent and lovable small dog very popular in this country. There are several other dogs classified as "toys" which are delightful companions for persons who have limited space and energy to cope with big dogs requiring much space and exercise. A great many dog lovers find these small dogs the perfect answer to their needs.

And here is another pet which can ride about in your pocket if you wish. It is the marmoset, a very small monkey. Monkeys are fun too.

Stockholm is Sweden's capitol.

Some pollutants worse than DDT

By JOHN LANNAN
Special to the Sentinel

Environmental scientists are concerned about some man-made chemicals which, because of their volume, could become more threatening pollutants than DDT.

Called "PCBs," for polychlorinated biphenyls, they have proved toxic to fish and some other forms of marine life and birds. Scientists are still unsure of their long-term effects on man.

Because they are used in the manufacture of products ranging from pesticides to ink to plastics to hydraulic fluid, as well as in the burgeoning field of electronics, they are scattered throughout the environment.

AS THE PRODUCTS IN which they are incorporated decompose and oxidize, the PCBs remain intact, to be picked up in the human food chain in a way not yet clearly understood.

The pollutant first came to light in Sweden in the last decade. Scientists routinely monitoring pesticides in the carcasses of birds of prey, primarily eagles, found the DDT tests becoming confused.

Later, they found it in other birds, fish and evergreen needles. Now it has been found in man.

These findings were considered serious enough by government scientists to warrant a conference, which met here recently.

It concluded so little is known that the size and gravity of the PCB threat cannot be stated.

PCBs POSE A CHEMICAL problem because of their resistance to breakdown, either biological or electrical.

Made of benzene, a petroleum derivative, PCBs are used primarily as a dielectric material, a fluid electric insulator.

Like DDT, the PCBs—which are relatively insoluble in water—get concentrated in marine organisms, and their travel through the food chain is similar to that of DDT.

Little creatures collect and concentrate the pollutant, then are eaten by larger creatures, which, in turn, are eaten by something else — including man.

No one knows precisely how the PCBs get into the water, how they make their way up the food chain to man or the extent of their toxicity at low levels.

It also is difficult to measure the threat PCBs pose because the sole U.S. manufacturer, Monsanto Chemical Co., refuses to disclose production figures — past or present — without an ironclad government guarantee of absolute secrecy.

UNOFFICIAL ESTIMATES indicate that hundreds of millions of pounds are produced each year.

John Mason, assistant general manager of the firm's organics division, does not agree that PCBs can be proved toxic to fish in low amounts despite the fact that leakage from a plant on the Escambia River in Alabama produced a major fish kill.

However, he admitted "concern that they are building up in the environment and the hazard to certain species of birds . . ."

The firm has two plants, one at Anniston, Ala., and the other at Sauget, Ill. Its products with PCB are all trade-named Aroclor and identified by number.

"We're just as concerned as anyone else about PCBs," Mason said. "But if they were banned, we'd have some very serious problems in the electrical industry."

He said that apartment house transformers in places like New York would be impractically noisy and large if they were cooled by oil instead of PCBs or as big as the buildings themselves if cooled by air.

MONSANTO IS TAKING steps to reduce any threat, including a recovery and regenerating process in which it collects spent transformer fluid containing PCBs and reprocesses it, Mason said.

The company also is warning potential users of PCB's hazards and trying to sell them other means of doing the jobs PCBs do. It is studying a high temperature incinerator in which the PCBs can be completely eradicated.

The Department of Agriculture, at Monsanto's request, is striking three products with PCBs from its approved list.

Scientists, meanwhile, are studying the extent of PCB residue. At the Patuxent Research Center of the Fish and Wildlife Services, ecologist Lucille Stickell says that the concern is well founded.

"WE ANALYZE WHAT- ever bald eagles are found dead in this country," she said, "and all contain PCBs in approximately the same amounts as pesticide residues."

In Lansing, Mich., Dr. Harold Price, an analytical chemist in charge of the state pesticide laboratory, said the last 1,500 samples checked indicate that PCBs "appear to be as ubiquitous as DDT."

Dr. Thomas Duke, an ecologist working at the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries pesticide laboratories in Gulf Breeze, Fla., said PCBs are being found in shrimp, crabs and juvenile fish.

The Food and Drug Administration's chief of compliance, Reo Duggan, said PCBs come under the general provisions of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act even though they are not used directly for these purposes.

The FDA has refused to consider several requests for approval for packaging materials containing PCBs, he said, not because of any danger but due to incomplete testing.

He added that PCBs have turned up in both milk and fish, but "only as an isolated instance."

The Incredible News Machine.

It's amazing. Each day it enthusiastically digests the whole world. Sifts and sorts out the facts. Then tells all in three long reports. You can hear the first one at mid-day, when JACK WHITE presents the Noon News, SAM RINAKER, at 5:30, anchors an hour-long report of news, weather and sports then introduces the masterly Huntley/Brinkley report. Finally, anchor-man JOE McMAHAN winds up the day in inimitable style at 11 p.m.

And that's it. Until the next day when the Incredible News Machine again digests and sifts and sorts. Feeding it day after day is an exclusive Washington news bureau. And an exclusive Sacramento news bureau. And NBC and Time/Life news bureaus right across the world. Incredible though it may seem, we have one of the largest news-gathering services in the West. What's really incredible, though, is that no one else has it.

PASS IT ON

If car won't float, do this

By L. M. BOYD
EXERCISE — IS IT STILL common practice among some athletes to exercise the grip by squeezing a rubber ball? Used to be.

Researchers in Philadelphia now say their studies show that doesn't work. The power of your grip, they contend, is inherited, and there's not much you can do to change it.

ONE OUT OF EVERY 50

cars on the road is driven by some old boy who has had too much to drink. The insurance statisticians say that. Calls for a caution, what? Our planet man contends fellows born under the sign of Aries are highly susceptible to flattery. They should be wary, he says, of sweet-talking girls and smooth-talking salesmen. During 11 months of the year, the average woman shopper walks nine miles a day. During December, she walks 12 miles a day.

LOST AND FOUND — A delicate gentleman named Mr. Rhee, identified as a writer for Life magazine, was reported missing. And when the detective, assigned to track him down, finally located him on a surfboard in the general vicinity of the Santa Monica pier, said officer cried out, "Ah, sweet Mr. Rhee of Life, at last I've found you!"

The foregoing is the oddest unnatural pun I've ever run across, and it is printed here for your literary scrutiny much as the diseased bladder of an aged hippopotamus might be submitted to men with microscopes.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q. "What country is producing the dirtiest films these days?" A. Denmark, I'm told. After that, in order, come Sweden and Germany. But why these Nordic nations seem so prone to push pornography is a mystery. Q. "How come a woodpecker doesn't bash its brains out?" A. Nobody has ever explained that. Q. "Is there an inheritance tax in the Soviet Union?" A. No, sir, none. Karl Marx wouldn't like it, but the fact is the children of the rich there can keep it.

MAY SURPRISE THE ELDers to learn that youngsters now see more movies in school than in theaters. If you want to check out the oldest known riddle, investigate the Book of Judges, Chapter 14, verses 14 through 18. The science boys insist more than eight million lightning bolts hit the earth each day. Incredible!

CONSIDER THIS — IF your car plunges into deep water, remember: Wait. Maybe just a moment, maybe several minutes, but wait. If the windows are closed, leave them closed. When the water stops rising inside the car, open a window and swim out. But don't fight against the inrushing water.

Let its pressures equalize first.

Such is the sage advice of the Dutch police who are called upon about twice a month to fish vehicles out of the Amsterdam Canal.

TELL IT LIKE IT IS

Jailed 24 times in 15 years

Mr. Taylor:

A recent article in the newspaper noted that a boy had had a recurring trip from LSD that he had taken two years before. Will everyone that has taken acid flash? If it's true, then my girlfriend is in real trouble.

Name Withheld:

Flashes or flashbacks are becoming more and more a part of our drug world and not just the separate world of acid.

Some speed freaks claim they flash in colors; most acid users will suffer distorted visions. A young boy I worked with admitted to over 200 acid trips. He sat in a rap session I was leading for two hours, took part in the discussion, and appeared quite normal.

Later he confided that he had rarely distinguished my face throughout the evening. What he saw when looking at me was the skeletal structure of my head and my veins protruding through the skin.

Medical researchers cannot predict these drug recurrences. They can't predict whether all users will flash, how long they'll last, the length of time per each flash, or even what part of the brain effects the flashback. I can document that two-year flash with a young lady that suffered flashes three years after eating acid.

Mr. Taylor: I'm just an oldster who's curious. Why do so many of today's young people wear dark glasses all the time? Does he have to do with eye problems caused by marijuana usage? If this is too silly to answer, I won't be offended.

Oldster: Ouch! You just hit where it hurts; I'm not so young and I just forget I have them on.

Kooky shades are a fad in today's mod world, but I have my own theory about many drug abusers.

I think they hide behind dark glasses—hide from the world because they become terrified outside their own little drug world.

However with many drugs, the optic nerves do become more sensitive to sunlight, causing the pupils to dilate. Abusers sometimes wear the dark glasses for this reason. However the dilated pupil that is supposed to expose the marijuana user doesn't always.

This is partially a wife's tale, but the whites of the eyes do tend to redden with marijuana usage.

I hope this answers your curiosity... and no apologies are necessary. There are

By ROGER TAYLOR
Drug and Narcotic Counselor-Teacher

"This old gal's had a great life these past 15 years... I've done everything — anything to escape reality — huff lighter fluid, shoot shaving lotion... man, I was cool... sophisticated..."

"15 years is a long time; what moved you so deeply into the world of drugs?"

"— guilt feelings... I thought life, my life, was a failure."

"How'd it all start?"

"Nothing really big... I was 14; some guys were smoking weed and laughing hysterically; I like to laugh; I smoked the marijuana and laughed for two years."

"Looking backward... what was it like?"

"I had no interest in school, wouldn't work; everything was a huge drama — a play... I lived in a twilight zone."

"We went out for frosties and french fries, rode around the beach, and I rationalized I was normal — doing normal things."

I dressed 'sexy,' kept my fingernails real long, but remember wearing boy's shirts a lot... with the tails hanging out."

"Do you remember any really big problems that confronted you during those early days?"

"I faced a lot of little conflicts — what to wear that day, how to fix my hair — but I still thought everything was cool. Lying to my friends... my parents... that was really cool. Then came the biggest problem — lying to myself."

"When you weren't loaded, what were you doing?"

"Stealing... I remember I was terrified but it got easier. More and more I pushed the guilt feeling aside — Man, I'm getting away with something!"

"What did you use besides marijuana?"

"Pills... heroin. I'd have no problems; if I felt uncomfortable, I'd get rid of problems... get loaded and forget..."

"Didn't this create some new problems you couldn't forget, couldn't cope with?"

"Yeah, jail; I've been busted 24 times..."

When confronted and offered help... a 16-year-old girl had three hands of tracks on both arms... claims she started by shooting bourbon at a party; she didn't watch... just let a guy she hardly knew use the spike. Mother reluctantly attended a conference and suggested that her daughter had recently had a bout with the flu... perhaps the marks were a rash caused by her sickness?

few silly questions when attempting to understand the drug abuse phenomenon.

Mr. Taylor: My friend got busted for possession of marijuana. He's on probation for one year. Will this be on his record for the rest of his life? That'd be a real bummer since we're only 15.

Name Withheld:

Name Withheld:

Juveniles charged with misdemeanors (first time possession can be judged as a misdemeanor) may petition the court to erase or expunge this charge from the records when they become 18 or 21 in California, dependent on the court's ruling. If expungement is granted, you may lawfully make no admission of guilt on future applications, during interviews, etc. Felony crimes cannot be expunged and most drug abuse falls in this category. You would have to admit to being a felon for the rest of your life. That kind of foolishness can be a real bummer!

Mr. Taylor:

What's the word on "Kif"? This is one that just hit the school and I've never heard of it. I think it's like grass. Some of the guys that smoked it say it's really righteous.

Curt:

Betcha, baby, another burn. Kif is another name for a form of marijuana. It grows in North Africa. It might sound more romantic, but the only real difference is the price. Sounds like someone read an article in some magazine and coined a new sales gimmick.

Readers:

Approached in Mexico recently by a pair of adults, my identity was questioned.

"Our son recognized you across the pool; he was in one of your more recent rap sessions at his school. What's he doing in Mexico," he asked: "do you suppose he's an agent?" I didn't think of it at the time but if these parents are reading the column, I spell it VACATION. Please pass it on to your son; agent talk is bad for my image.

JOB FAIR HOPEFULS

More than half went away without summer jobs

Long summer ahead for 'Fair' jobless

More than half the youths lined up outside the Convention Hall at the downtown Community Concourse the past week looking for summer jobs went away disappointed.

Approximately 750 of the 1,500 students who applied for interviews at the county-wide Job Fair were successful in getting summer jobs, according to Job Fair worker John Wilson. For those who didn't get jobs, it may be a long summer, with too much time to do nothing.

"I'm disappointed but at the same time I'm pleased," Wilson told the Sentinel. "Early in the campaign I said we'd be a success if we got one job for one youth."

The Job Fair did do better than that, but maybe not well enough.

"There has to be a meeting of the minds in all factors of the community — South Bay, La Mesa, El Cajon, San Diego — and all factors will have to participate," he said.

There are approximately 450,000 youths between the ages of 16 and 21 throughout California who are looking for summer employment, according to figures released recently by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Wilson said he had no estimate of how many youths in San Diego County will be seeking work this summer.

"The community realizes that something like the Job Fair is necessary to help young people find meaningful summer employment," Wilson said, adding that either employers are going to have to participate more or the funds to train youths will have to come from the federal government. Either way, it will cost money, time and effort.

Wilson described the Job Fair this year as more organized than the event which was held the past year, although the 1969 Job Fair placed more youths in summer positions. "We had less problems this year," he said, indicating that experience is still the best teacher.

He estimated that approximately 200 to 300 additional jobs would be made available as a direct result of the Job Fair by the end of the summer. Employers have indicated that when vacancies occur, they will contact Job Fair coordinators for names of likely candidates to fill the job demand.

How about that...

Futurists to meet in La Jolla

World Future Society has scheduled the first meeting of its newly inaugurated San Diego Chapter at the Salk Institute on this Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. The multidisciplinary international association of futurists has its headquarters in Washington, D.C., and publishes the journal, The Futurist.

Fifty area members will gather for the first time at La Jolla's Salk Institute which is hosting the event through their coordinator, Stewart Ross. Dr. Philip R. Harris, vice president of Copley International Corporation, is acting coordinator for the W.F.S. chapter.

Interested public invited. The one sure way to keep in trouble is to run from it.

APPLICANT AND INTERVIEWER

Mary Moons, left, classified advertising supervisor for the Sentinel, interviews Helen Peterson for position at the newspaper. Miss Peterson, a senior at San Diego State College studying social sciences, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson, at 6635 Manning St., Linda Vista. She was successful in her bid for a summer job, and is working on the switchboard at the Sentinel. More than half the students who applied for summer jobs through the Job Fair were turned away because of a lack of vacancies at San Diego County businesses.

Youth arrested on suspicion of burglary series

An Ocean Beach youth was being held in Juvenile Hall Tuesday after he was arrested in connection with a series of 14 burglaries and two cases of arson in the beach area.

Police said the youth admitted setting fires at Cabrillo Escrow Co., 1929 Cable St., April 28 and at Consuelo's Restaurant, 2253 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., April 29. The two fires caused more than $22,000 damage.

The 16-year-old boy was arrested by police after a citizen filed a complaint against the youth. Police said the complaint was filed by Richard D. Pohlentz of 4678 Santa Cruz Ave.

Pohlentz told police he was walking by the youth's home when he heard music from a tape which he believed to have been stolen from his car. Pohlentz contacted police, who arrested the youth on suspicion of car prowling.

Clairemont Adult class registration now open

The second summer session of adult classes will be offered by Clairemont Adult School starting June 22 and continuing for six weeks until July 31. The summer session will include classes from North Shores Adult School combining with the Clairemont Adult School to offer day, afternoon and evening classes available to adults in Pacific Beach, Mission Beach, La Jolla, Clairemont, Serra Mesa, Linda Vista and the Kearny Mesa area.

More than 80 different classes in 17 different locations are scheduled. Most of these classes are free. Applicants may enroll in the class at the first meeting, at the North Shores Adult office, located at Mission Bay High School, or at the Clairemont Adult office, located at Clairemont High School. Schedules of classes will be available at libraries and grocery stores or by mail by calling 274-3422 or 274-3221. The principal, Philip F. Wick, said more than 6,500 adults were registered in the two adult schools combining the beach areas and Clairemont last month. The offerings are being extended to the summer session to take care of the many adults interested in continuing their education for self-satisfaction or to meet a particular educational objective.

The six-week summer session includes complete offerings in the area of Americanization, business education, fine arts, history and government, home economics, language arts, math and driver education. Wick said there would also be six different classes in physical fitness at Mission Bay, Madison and Kearny high schools.

This year Clairemont Adult School will graduate 350 adults. Other credit students may continue their requirements toward the diploma.

A counselor will be available to assist those desiring a diploma by evaluating their past school experience, military experience or work experience in meeting the requirements for a diploma. For veterans' widows or wives of disabled veterans, benefits are available through the Veterans Readjustment Act of 1966. Students desiring to take classes toward their diploma or to receive benefits are urged to see the counselor as soon as possible.

Mila Ruth to perform in musical program

Mila Ruth, lovely young songstress, will be presented by the J.C.C. Music Committee June 20 at 8 p.m. at the San Diego Jewish Community Center. Her program will include folk songs and selections from Broadway Musicals. Irene Albrecht will be her piano accompanist, and for part of the program Mila will accompany herself on the guitar.

Mila Ruth, a finalist in the 1970 Frank Sinatra Vocal Competition, has had extensive experience both as a singer and as an actress. She sang and played guitar in a recent Los Angeles production of "The Spoon River Anthology," she performed with "The Young Americans" under the direction of Milton Anderson, and she has sung and acted on television. Last May she had two appearances on Channel 8's International Hour.

Next fall, Mila Ruth will be attending the Juilliard School of Drama in New York. She was one of 20 students throughout the nation selected to attend.

KINSOLVING

Youth delegate sets stimulating trend for churches

by LESTER KINSOLVING

Thanks to Michael Harris, a sophomore at the University of Oregon, the 3.1 million-member United Presbyterian Church may never again be the same—and other churches may change as well.

IN LINE WITH A GROWING tendency to give youth a louder voice in ecclesiastical affairs, Harris was named a delegate to the United Presbyterian General Assembly, which met recently in Chicago. He made the revolutionary but reasonable suggestion that nominees for the church's highest office, moderator, be questioned from the floor about their policies and beliefs. His proposal was adopted—and resulted in the defeat of the odds-on favorite and the election of a virtual unknown.

"I've only once before run for any elective office," said the surprised Rev. William Laws after his election, "for the school board in my hometown—and I lost."

While Michael Harris provided the opportunity for Dr. Laws, two other factors led to the election of the soft-spoken and unassuming pastor from Columbus, Ind.

One was the terse and unequivocal answers Dr. Laws gave to the questions posed him. The other was the unfavorable reaction of the delegates to the answers of his opponents.

THE FIRST QUESTION from the floor was: "Do you support the Massachusetts bill prohibiting any of that state's young men from being forced to serve in an undeclared war?"

Most of Dr. Laws' opponents hedged with answers like: "If this assembly so voted, I would follow."

But Dr. Laws replied succinctly: "I am not in favor of sending our boys to an undeclared war!"

All the nominees had excellent records. But impressive credentials apparently weighed little. What counted was the crucial sampling of how a potential presiding officer can stand up under the rigorous scrutiny of a national church convention in the revolutionary Seventies.

One of the nominees, the Rev. Abraham Lincoln Reynolds of Chicago, appeared to find one solution to all problems: Give more money to the poor. Three of the others made the error of delivering large quantities of pious rhetoric. While this may be the required pulp style in some congregations, it drives some clergy to distraction—and bores thinking laymen as well.

This is especially true when it is delivered in the familiar "stained glass" voice affected by undertakers.

PLATTITUDES ALSO DID not fare well. Witness the unsuccessful nominee who declared: "I never met a man I didn't like!"

The pre-election favorite was internationally known Princeton Seminary Professor Elmer Homrighausen—who talked his way out of the election. When asked for specific proposals for the improvement of the denomination, the nation's sixth largest, he preached instead on the love of God. He lauded "our wonderful women" and his closest approach to becoming specific was to urge "more emphasis on youth."

When, at 10:45 p.m., Dr. Laws was called upon to follow Dr. Homrighausen, he produced an answer ideally tailored to his weary audience. He rose, stated briskly: "I don't believe I can add anything to that," and sat down. This evoked the loudest applause of the long evening.

JUST WHY IT HAS TAKEN 264 years and the suggestion of a college student to pioneer this testing of prospective leaders remains what might be called a holy mystery. But it seems safe to predict that the public questioning of nominees to high church office will become a firmly established practice—and not only in the United Presbyterian Church.

Church convention delegates in this era appear to be in no mood to elect the usual type of ecclesiastical politician who equates concealment of his convictions with holiness and propriety.

Through the kind of questioning that took place as a result of young Michael Harris' suggestion—particularly of all candidates simultaneously—even the most obscure pastor who reveals courage and common sense can be elected to the highest ecclesiastical post.

CLAIREMONT LUTHERAN

"If every Christian took advantage of every encounter with unbelievers to bear witness to the Good News, many of the world's ills would heal themselves."

Paul admonishes believers to take advantage of those moments in his epistle to the Colossians, Chapter 4:1-6, text for Pastor Vance Knutsen's sermon theme, "Making the Most of the Moment."

Services are to be conducted at 8, 9 and 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m., with emphasis on the 10:30 service when new members are to be welcomed into the fellowship.

Sunday School is at 9 and 10:30 a.m.

Beginning June 21, the summer schedule becomes official with Sunday church school, a two-hour session during which the whole family may worship in the sanctuary at 8 a.m., followed by a study hour starting at 9 a.m. for all ages.

What is your protection?

While most of us will never face armed combat, all of us need a sure basis for safety.

Many are finding real protection through a better understanding of God as the preserver of man.

This is not just blind faith, but a scientific knowledge of the divine Principle that governs us all.

If you'd like a more certain sense of safety in your life, you will enjoy hearing the Bible Lesson read in our church this Sunday.

Baptists plan youth action for convention

Special activities are to be kicked off June 14 by Emmanuel Baptist Church, Pacific Beach; University City First Baptist Church and Clairemont Baptist Church with Youth Night programs of dedication.

HUNDREDS OF YOUNG persons sharing their faith through music and person-to-person conversation is part of the 91st international meeting.

Activities also are planned for 750 children of convention participants, under the direction of B. E. Larson. Planned for children who have completed grades one through six, the program will include daily trips to Balboa Park, Indian Hills Camp, San Diego Zoo, Mission Bay Park, Sea World and a San Diego harbor excursion, said the local pastors.

More than 450 older youth in 23 music groups from throughout the Southwest Baptist Conference, Southern California-Arizona, and as many others in smaller witness teams are to participate.

Special outreach activities throughout the city and at area beaches will include noon-hour musical programs each day in the Convention Center Plaza.

One-man show set by artist

Paintings by Willa Smith will be exhibited at the La Jolla Art Association Gallery, 7917 Girard Ave., June 11 through 20.

This, her 11th annual one-man show in the La Jolla Art Assoc., will be mostly oil, land and seascapes, interspersed with still life, boats, buildings and a few drawings. Her technique varies from fine brush work to heavy palette knife and shows individuality in each piece. Each subject is well planned and emanates a feeling of inner strength and calm.

She spent her childhood on a farm and teen years in a small town in Missouri. Much of nature "rubbed off" and gave her a deep appreciation of the wonders of the outdoor world. Although her scope has broadened and contains a wide variety of subject matter, nature subjects come easily to her. They are painted in a realistic manner without being completely pictorial.

Mrs. Smith has been a member of the association for 12 years and belongs to several other art organizations. The gallery will remain open daily from noon to 5 p.m.

and Horton Plaza with Al Hawker of La Crescenta as music coordinator.

YOUTH EVANGELIST Darrell Johnson of Chicago is coordinating other activities for junior high through college-age young persons. Special training sessions are planned June 27 during the denomination's Christian Education Congress meetings.

2. Vitamin C is needed to make cementing materials that hold the body cells together.

3. Vitamin C is needed to make the walls of the blood vessels firm.

4. Vitamin C is needed to aid in healing wounds and broken bones.

Town Talk

By MARY FISHEL

MARLYS MARTIN ... a very pretty 19 year old blonde has decided to become a "school-drop-out" at Mesa and accept the honor she received, when she was appointed California Worthy Advisor for the International Order for Rainbow Girls. Marlys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin of Clairemont, was selected out of 20,000 girls for this office at the recent Rainbow Grand Assembly in Long Beach.

She is a member of the Clairemont Assembly Rainbow for Girls 167 and has been a past worthy advisor and has worked in various capacities in that assembly. Now she will represent all the Rainbow Girls in the state of California. Marlys feels as someone once said "travel is very broadening" ... educational, so to speak and she will get to do just that! She will attend the Supreme Assembly in Cleveland, Ohio (July 18-Aug. 1) and then go on to tour Washington D.C. It will be the first time she has seen this nation's capital.

Marlys will also travel to Grand Assemblies in Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Idaho with a majority of all her expenses paid. There is another side to this office ... Marlys has selected as her service project Asestine School in San Diego. It is a non-profit school for neurologically, handicapped children.

Every assembly in California will help with this project and they hope to raise about $6,500 to buy a school bus or some kind of transportation for the youngsters. Members of the Clairemont Assembly, Pacific Beach Assembly and Golden Strand Assembly will help at the school by giving volunteer time.

They also plan to gather old pop bottles and cans throughout all of California to raise as much money that way as possible. Marlys says she already has quite a stack in her front yard!

She will be leaving Friday for Stockton, the first leg on her travels.

Sorry fellows ... her mother is going along!

TALKING ABOUT ... colleges and the like, they sure are changing in more ways than one with Vassar accepting boys and Yale ... girls. Eve Andrea Wildt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wildt of Pacific Beach will attend Yale this fall.

Eve has a 3.8 average at Mission Bay High and was one of 230 girls accepted for the freshman class at Yale this fall. She has been active in many activities at MBHS.

But her favorite hobbies are refinishing and building furniture AND she likes to fly kites!

SISTER SALLY FURAY ... academic dean of the USD College for Women agrees that the historical reason for women's colleges is no longer valid.

She said "Women's colleges in the United States were begun because women were not allowed into the regularly established institutions with rare exceptions."

"I think ... though men may not accept this ... that whether in education or industry women are not fully accepted as the intellectual and administrative equals of men."

"But in an era when all colleges, even the famous Ivy League and Seven Sisters are recognizing that the original reason for women's colleges is no longer a reason, there seems less necessity to continue the rather expensive operation separately."

Wow! It looks like things really are changing for women. Well, let's face it ... it is a changing world, but sometimes when you read the news, it makes you wonder.

TWO TIPUANA TREES ... will be donated and planted Friday (1:30 p.m.) at Kate Sessions Park by the Raymond Smith family of Pacific Beach.

The public has been invited to attend as it is a community farewell party for Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Roth (he was pastor of PB Presbyterian Church) as he is retiring. They are going to live in Claremont, Calif.

Mrs. Soldau

The Women's Auxiliary to the San Diego Pharmaceutical Association will meet for a regular luncheon meeting on June 18 at 12, to be held at the Town & Country, Aqua Room.

This will be an important meeting because newly elected officers will be installed. The slate of officers include: president, Mrs. John Soldau of University City; vice president, Mrs. James Galloway; secretary, Mrs. James Monahan, and treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Drury.

After a Fashion

By MARIAN CHRISTY

NEW YORK—When stinging disappointment hangs in the air like a black cloud that won't light, actress Claire Bloom is one Britisher who loses her cool.

The inner storm, which starts in the pit of her stomach ascends to her fiery eyes which well up with fat tears and the rain doesn't stop falling for at least two days.

Eventually, rationalization sets in and the initial devastation diminishes.

Fashion, which is one of Claire's security blankets, was recently the subject of a stormy scene.

She went on a shopping spree, slipped into a clingy size 8 Kimberly knit, despised the way it adhered to her already lean but voluptuous figure and, as can be predicted burst into fretful tears.

Then a typical post reaction: The resolution to become a gorgeous 41-year-old size 6 with no trace of flab. She has since gotten into that Kimberly but it was no overnight sensation.

Uniformed maids who run the East 62nd Street townhouse, decorated like a red King Arthur's Court, were told to serve only high-protein foods. Bread, potatoes and rice were no's.

Then Claire signed up and still faithfully attends a daily calisthenics class at Carlos Studio and, much to her unconcealed amazement, has learned to stand on her head.

Claire Bloom, one of fashion's newest and most-fascinating beautiful people, didn't make the 1969 best-dressed list and despite a strong focus on a fashion-beauty syndrome, claims not to "give a clack for such frivolous nonsense."

In the next breath: "I wear a Norman Norrell blue jersey dress for my poetry recitals. Norrell and T. S. Elliot were made for each other. They are both great classicists."

Below the fashion surface is a very private woman. She's deeply introspective, talk about the dangers of person-to-person contact, thinks revealing oneself is to lose oneself.

"In a way, I am like the primitive African people who hate to have their pictures taken," she says. Indeed, the only pictures available are sex-oriented studio shots that underscore her womanliness with a minimum of clothes.

She talks about the rain beating on the window and how threatening sounds oppress her. She ponders Leonard Woolf's "The Journey, Not the Arrival, Matters," listens to unturned-on Bach, digs Henry Moore sculpture, is studying every Ibsen play.

But she isn't square. When she and her husband want to get away from it all, they climb on their Honda and whiz over to Benihana or Edo, two Japanese restaurants that serve up sashimi (raw fish) which they devour with finger-licking enthusiasm. And yet, there's that underlying need for self-protection: "I always wear a helmet with a tremendously effective facial mask. I demanded it when my husband bought the machine."

Then, in a typical high-low show of feeling, Claire is back on a negative theme. The sadness of love: "Love is always waxing and waning."

It's GREAT for

Sports writer-fishermen 'wet down' Cape Polaris

LATE BITE

Russ Berman, sports director for the 11th Naval District, gets a hand from 'Cape Polaris' crew member binging aboard an 18-pound yellowtail caught late Tuesday afternoon on annual sportswriters sportsfishing cruise.

By JOHN E. WIRGES
Sentinel Sports Editor

The date line was "Point Loma, San Diego" in outdoor columns Wednesday, in newspapers all over the southwest and up the Pacific coast as far as Prince Rupert, British Columbia, Canada. The story was about fishing.

It all started late Monday night when some 65 outdoor writers boarded Bill Poole's beautiful new 95-foot, deep sea sportsfishing boat "Cape Polaris." It proved to be a record turnout for the annual Yellowtail Derby Sportswriters fishing thing. But Poole's boat was up to it.

The fish, however were something else.

Only a lucky few hooked up to the fighting yellows. The rest of us were blanked. One luckier-than-most wordsmith named Bill Beebe boated four of the battling seabests. He probably wins at cards and catches nothing but green lights. Beebe, who fills space in the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, claims he should open an office in Point Loma.

"This is the only place to go deep sea fishing," he says. "It's a waste of time to fish anywhere else. I've been coming to Point Loma's docks for fishing and fishing stories almost 20 years. San Diego just has to be the Sportsfishing Capital of the World."

Brinkworth took the "biggest and best" trophy back to the Los Angeles area where he writes about fresh air, salt water and Point Loma sportfishers. None of which they have in Los Angeles.

ONE SALTY SAN FRANCISCO writer commented there were no "real" fishermen on the boat. "Up our way," he reported, "at least a dozen would be under-the-weather at the bar and a friendly card game would occupy more than one booth in the lounge. All these guys do is stand at the rail and fish. Some fishermen." Everybody to their own thing. The trip kicked off well enough with an early bite just off North Island. Poole's sportsfishing Palace afloat gets to the Coronados in one hour, 10 minutes and change.

Brinkworth's record tuna was boated during the morning run, as were several of Beebe's beasts. Then it happened. The yellows disappeared. Poole cruised all over and rods were bent with a dozen species, but the yellows were gone.

POOLE FOUND THE TROPHY tuna again just after 2 p.m. Hook ups were made on both sides and across the stern. Yellows went after jigs and live bait. They hit on everything save the offering of the Sentinel's sports type. Him, they ignored.

Billy Casper got one. He brought it aboard in short order. Casper fishes with the same expertise he plays golf, and that makes him mighty handy with the rod and reel. He's sitting out the Western Open this week and maybe even the U. S. Open scheduled next week. Casper has a hand injury. It's bad enough that he can't hit irons, but not so severe that he can't hold a fishing rod.

For Casper, it would seem his black cloud hides a silver lining.

RUSS BERMAN GOT AN 18-pound yellow. Berman, the athletic director of the 11th Naval District, took 37-minutes to land his prize, touring the boat twice during the battle. The Point Loma resident claimed he was no match for the tuna tiger physically. "I out-thought him," claimed Berman when he finally landed his monster.

If fishing is such hard work for the fisherman, what must it be for the ships cook? Cape Polaris galley master Joe Fleck had part of the answer. "The reason I never smile is because I haven't the strength," he dourly explained.

FLECK COMES ABOARD at 2 a.m., supervises loading his stores and gets his grill hot. Breakfast orders start almost right away.

"I used 148 eggs for the breakfast crowd," he explained. "Hamburgers, pancakes and all the other short order requests keep us going until early afternoon. Then we go to steak dinners with salad and tomatoes."

BILL POOLE
'Polaris' skipper

Fleck also dispenses cold pop, beer, coffee and hot chocolate upon request. If there were any slack time, that would fill it up.

"I FIGURE WE SERVED 204 meals to this crowd," he said with a nod to the sports types cleaning plates and emptying glasses in the lounge. He discreetly refrained from issuing a consumption report on the beer. Some things are better left unsaid.

Things were done in the best traditions of the sea. Sports writers will inform millions of readers throughout the west of the charm of Point Loma's sports fishing service. It was a lovely day, a beautiful boat, an exceptional skipper and (for some) good fishing. In fact there was only one jarring note.

The galley helper kept throwing the garbage over the rail . . . on the wind-ward side.

SENTINEL SPORTS

Lyons gets CIF berth

Dave Lyons, Western League baseball Player of the Year, has been honored further by being selected to the All-CIF first team.

The senior Clairemont infielder joins a select group of 12 on the first team chosen by the Breitbard Athletic Foundation, including Player of the Year Terry Forster of CIF champion Santana.

ONE OF THE FIVE infielders on the CIF team, Lyons is considered by many including his coach Ernie Beck, to be the best professional prospect ever to play ball at Clairemont.

It was a fitting finish to a three-year varsity baseball career for the 6-foot, 180-pound shortstop. Lyons made the All-Western League team as a junior and batted .418 this year on his way to the league MVP award.

Dave makes the fourth Lyons brother to have played a and starred on Chieftain teams.

BROTHER GEORGE WAS a quarterback, forward and pitcher in the early years of Clairemont. In fact, that baseball team ('59-'60) won the California state championship. In between George and Dave were Bob and Steve who left their own marks in the football, basketball and baseball legend.

Lyons was the only Western Leaguer named to the CIF first team, where he is listed with four Eastern players and seven ball hawks from the county leagues.

KEARNY PITCHER MIKE Allen was chosen for second team honors and Komet teammate Steve Oswald was tabbed to the third team outfield.

Allen, a fireballing left-hander, earned a 10-1 record winning all but six of Kearny's games while Oswald batted .360.

THE CIF SELECTION COMMITTEE overlooked Kearny's Mitchell Taylor and Eddie Evilsizer, both of whom were picked in the major league draft last week.

Of the 36 players selected to the three CIF rosters, 10 hail from the Eastern League, 11 from Grossmont, six from the Metro, five from the Avocado, three from the Western and one from the Southern.

CIF champ Santana placed a total of five on the three teams and runnerup Hoover three.

HAWKS WREST TROPHY

The All-Sport Trophy, emblematic of athletic supremacy, has found its way to Madison for the first time in the trophy's history. The perpetual award, presented by the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, is given each year to the Western League school compiling the most points based on athletic competition in all sports. Pictured with the giant symbol of athletic achievement are three reasons why Madison won. From left, Mark Acosta, member of Madison's Western League champion gymnastics team, Joseph Byrnes, Madison principal, Dave Smith, spearhead of WL champ basketball team and Jim Steiger of Western League wrestling kings. All three of the senior athletes are of CIF caliber. Acosta finished high in CIF gymnastic finals two years in row; Smith was named to All-CIF first team basketball and Steiger won CIF wrestling crown as junior and placed second this year. Madison totaled 767 points during the interscholastic year, over 100 points ahead of runner-up Clairemont (647). Ten varsity and junior varsity sports are considered in the point standings. Point Loma had a lease on the award for the first eight years of its presentation, owning it from '59-'60 to '66-'67. Kearny has had the golden bowl the last two years. The three schools are the only to ever have won.

SAYS HE'LL SUMMER HERE

McMahon to coach Pittsburgh Pipers

Jack McMahon is unique among professional coaches. He's an honest man. When he says he's going to miss San Diego, he means it.

McMahon was presented to the Pittsburgh press yesterday as the new coach of Pipers. Before he left his Point Loma home for the trip to the iron capital of the east, the former coach of the San Diego Rockets confessed he hated to leave what he now considers his "home town."

"WE'LL SPEND OUR SUMMERS here," he promised. "Whenever I retire or get out of the game, we're coming back here. But right now there's an acute shortage of professional basketball coaching jobs in San Diego."

In truth there is only one and McMahon was fired from it last December after the Rockets got off to a sloppy 9-17 showing after losing 10 of their first 11 games.

THE COACHING CHANGE made little difference, however. The Rockets sagged to a 27-55 season, ending some 20 games back for the worse record in the NBA. But McMahon still believes in the ability of his former players.

"I felt the Rockets were a second place club when the season opened," he claimed. "And I felt they were still capable of earning that spot when I left. The talent was there, but injuries and the bickering between players had its effect."

SMILING JACK IS ONE TO let bygones be bygones. "I wish the Rockets well," he said. "With the trades and the draft, they could come a long way. Maybe even second place."

McMahon was too much the gentleman to comment on the draft the Rockets didn't make. "What about skipping the high-priced guard for the not-so-costly forward in the NBA's college draft?" he was asked.

"I'D RATHER TALK about the Pipers," said McMahon, who rejoins an old friend in the Pittsburgh effort. Marty Blake takes over the ABA club as general manager. He joins the Pipers from Atlanta, where he held a like position.

JACK MCMAHON
Pittsburgh bound

"Marty started with the 'Hawks as a ball boy and came up through the ranks," said McMahon. He's a busy guy. He told me he already has 100 players lined up for the Pipers. The club is well financed and we have a beautiful, new well-lit building in which to play."

The new building interests Blake. The well-financed, willing - to spend ownership pleases McMahon.

THE POOR FACILITY forced on the Hawks in Atlanta has long been a sore spot with Blake. "They were going to improve the building and light it for television," he once told a San Diego basketball press luncheon. "But the owners discovered it cost too much to take out the candles and put in electricity. There was some talk about improving the area by tearing the building down and building a slum."

Such talk may have hastened Blake's move to Pittsburgh. Not so with McMahon. He doesn't bad talk anyone. He takes the positive approach.

A MULTI-INDUSTRIAL conglomerate owns the Pipers franchise. They gave Blake and McMahon only one directive. "Build a winner," they said, and authorized what amounts to an open budget.

"How would you compare the San Diego basketball organization with your new coaching assignment?" McMahon was asked.

"I wish the Rockets well," said McMahon with a deft turn of the query. "And I'm looking forward to a very interesting season in Pittsburgh."

Ice hockey school set

The San Diego Amateur Hockey Association has announced the formation of a summer ice hockey program for boys all ages. The two month instructional period will begin July 5 and run to Sept. 6.

Members of the San Diego Gulls will serve as tutors, giving lessons in puck handling, shooting and other fundamentals. The course will be aimed at the beginning hockey player but all boys, either beginning or advanced, are welcome.

The boys will be put into classes with others of their own age, forming a total of six divisions.

Cost of the House of Ice program is $40 for 10 weeks and instruction will be given every Sunday morning. Further information is available at the House of Ice.

HELMETS ARE FOR GIRLS, TOO

Everyone gets a helmet. Everyone under 14, that is. Souvenir Padre batting helmets, like those shown by (from left) Mathew McMahon and Jill and Derek Weber, will be presented to every youngster under 14 years of age Sunday at San Diego Stadium when the Padres battle the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Padres have several special events during the team's two-week home stay. Besides Helmet Day there will be a special program on Father's Day June 21 and throughout the entire 13 games, Little League teams ordering a minimum of 12 box or reserved seats will be eligible to receive a free carton of 12 Padre Little League bats.

Jones named Mesa's top track athlete for '70

California state javelin champion Pete Jones was named Mesa College's 1970 outstanding track athlete at the annual Olympian awards banquet last week.

Jones was undefeated in his specialty this year and kept a six-year tradition alive when he captured the Southern California and state javelin championships. Incredibly, the Olympians have produced at least one Southern California and state champion every year since Mesa began athletic competition in 1965. Jones' effort of 232'-6" in the state finals also surpassed his own school record he broke three times during the season.

Other awards went to Al Fennell, team captain, and Tony Richburg, The Olympian. Fennell was a top 440 and 880 man for Mesa the past two seasons and this year was the key link in the Olympians' mile relay squad. Richburg is only the second freshman in Mesa history to win the Olympian Award as the most versatile athlete. The other was Wes Williams, who won two state championships for Mesa and now ranks as one of the premiere 440-yard hurdle runners in the world.

Richburg accomplished a rare feat this season when he qualified for the Southern California finals in five events. He was on both Mesa's 440 and mile relay teams which ran in the state finals. His top effort of the season came last week in the Pacific Southwest A.A.U. meet when he tied the Olympian record of 21.9 in 220.

Richburg and Fennell were part of the Olympian contingent that competed in the junior college division of the Compton Invitational Saturday. Mesa's mile relay with Richburg, Fennell, John Vidulich and Joe Kinney placed second while the two-mile relay with Fennell, Vidulich, Ben Martinez and Pat McCallion captured third.
